Scheduled Operation: These are regular paid flights, which are flights operated for remuneration and according to a published schedule (or so regularly that they constitute an identifiable systematic series), which the public can book directly.

Passengers Transported: These are paid passengers, that is, all passengers for whose transport the airline receives commercial remuneration.

Cargo Transported: This is the paid cargo, that is, all cargo for which the airline receives commercial remuneration.

Revenue passenger-kilometers (RPK): The sum of the products obtained by multiplying the number of revenue passengers transported in each flight stage by the corresponding distance of the stage.

Available seat-kilometers (ASK): The sum of the products obtained by multiplying the number of seats available at each flight stage by the corresponding distance from the stage.

Passenger Load Factor (PLF): Ratio of division of RPK by ASK.

Flight Hours: Total time elapsed from the moment the aircraft begins to move under its own power to taxi and take off, until the moment it stops at the end of the flight (block to block).

Distance Flown: Obtained from the calculation of the orthodromic distance between the Origin Airport and the Destination Airport.
